

WE LOVE CAPE TOWN

Dear Guest,

As we head into the second quarter of 2018, we have noticed, based on the high occupancy rate of our luxury villas, that Cape Town has become less of a seasonal destination and more of an all-year-round place to visit. All you need to do is pop into the iconic V&A Waterfront or head up famous Lion's Head to hear the sound of foreign accents speaking a multitude of languages.

At In Residence, we are looking forward to some exciting events taking place in Cape Town this month:

- The Cape Town International Convention Centre (CTICC) is hosting the International Luxury Travel Market Show (ILTM) from 15th – 17th April where we will be exhibiting. The ILTM, launched 5 years ago, is the leading luxury travel event on the African continent.
- We are fortunate to be affiliated to the Norval Foundation, a new center that has been built to showcase 20th and 21st century visual art from South Africa and beyond. Opening on 27th April, the center is located in Steenberg, adjacent to the Table Mountain National Park.

We are proud to present a number of new luxury villa properties that we have added to our portfolio. Please visit our website to view: inresidence.co.za

See you soon,
Pieter & the In Residence team

OUR FEATURED PROPERTIES

SEA LION

A Greg Wright designed architectural masterpiece that has featured in several magazines, Sea Lion is one of Cape Town's exceptional luxury villas. Located in "wind free" Fresnaye, one of Cape Town's most prestigious neighbourhoods, Sea Lion sits on the very edge of Lion's Head National Reserve with unparalleled views of the Atlantic Ocean & Robben Island from every single room. Its 725 m2 of space feature generous amounts of textured granite, warm walnut and luxurious marble which form the neutral backdrop for its vibrant contemporary interiors and its impressive collection of art from across the globe. Superb attention to every aspect of its interior detail ensures that each and every area of the home and its ensuite bedrooms are individually distinct & luxurious.
